PRELIMINARY FIELD TRIP ANNOUNCEMENT

Seismic Hazard of the Range Front Thrust Faults Northeastern Santa Cruz Mountains/Southwestern Santa Clara Valley

Saturday, March 27, 2004

The AEG San Francisco Section is hosting a field trip to explore the series of thrust faults mapped along the northeastern topographic range front of the Santa Cruz Mountains. The faults have been collectively referred to as the Foothills Thrust System or the Peninsula Fold and Thrust Belt by various workers. Individual faults to be discussed include the Sargent, Berrocal, Shannon, Monte Vista, and Serra faults. The primary objective of the field trip is to provide a forum for discussion of the fault hazard, and to compile fault data for the thrust system collected after the release of U.S. Geological Survey OFR 96-267, Toward Assessing the Seismic Risk Associated with Blind Faults, San Francisco Bay Region, California. The trip will start near the south end of the thrust system in Los Gatos and work up the Peninsula, with the last stop focusing on the Serra fault.

Adapted from Jennings (1994), Lajoie (1996), and Bruns et al. (2002).

Confirmed field trip co-leaders to date include Bob McLaughlin, John Wakabayashi, Christopher Hitchcock, Jim Hengesh, Ted Sayre, Reid Fisher, Steve Connelly, Ron Rubin, Glenn Borchardt and Drew Kennedy.

Should you wish to be a field trip co-leader or have relevant fault data to be included in the guidebook, please contact Drew Kennedy at (916) 729-8050 or dkennedy@sandersgeo.com. Field trip co-leaders must confirm by February 14, 2004. The guidebook submission deadline is March 1, 2004.

A formal field trip announcement and registration form will be emailed to AEG members in early February, and will be posted on this page.
